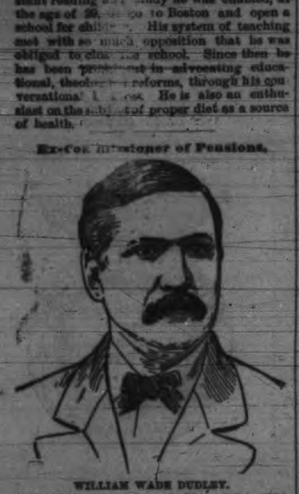
VOL. 1. VICTORIA, B. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 1, 1885. NO. 251

The Philosopher of Concord.

A. BRONSON ALCOTT.

This great philosopher, whose name has been before the public for generations, first saw the light at Wolcott, Ct., in 1799. He began life as a peddler among the planter's families in Old Virginny." By constant reading and study he was enabled, at the age of 20, to go to Boston and open a school for children. His system of teaching met with so much opposition that he was obliged to close the school. Since then he has been prominent in advocating educational, theological reforms, through his conversations. He is also an enthusiast on the subject of proper diet as a source of health.

Ex-Commissioner of Pensions.



WILLIAM WADE DUDLEY.

Col. Dudley was born in Vermont in 1834. In 1850 his parents removed to Indiana, where he was engaged in the business of milling when he answered to the second call of Lincoln for troops, and was assigned to a captaincy in the 19th regiment of Indiana volunteers. He participated with his regiment in all the great battles of the war until Gettysburg, in 1863, where he was severely wounded, necessitating the amputation of his leg. Since the war he has been elected to many civic positions from his home in Wayne county, Indiana, until his appointment in June, 1881, by President Garfield to the position of commissioner of pensions, which position he resigned some time ago.

Where a Boa Constrictor Would Fail.

[Peck's Sun.]

London has tested the squeezing powers of a boa constrictor twenty-five feet long, and is satisfied that he couldn't crush the ribs of a woman given to tight lacing if he was given every show a snake could ask for.

Author of Helen's Babies.

JOHN HABBERTON.

Mr. Habberton, at present editor of The New York Tel-gram, became famous in 1876 as the author of "Helen's Babies," a book which reached one million of 250,000 copies in America and circulated largely in England, France and Germany as well. Born in Brooklyn, N. Y. in 1843, young Habberton was taken west at the age of 8 years; received a common school education in southern Illinois; went to the war and has since been editor of The Christian Union, and later an editorial writer on The New York Herald, until promoted to his present position. He has written "Other Peoples Children," and other works, but without the result that attended his first great success.

The Farmer's Private Railroad Station.

[Chicago Herald.]

"We made a singular discovery, the other day," remarked an official of a road running into Chicago. "About three miles beyond a certain station on our line there is a farm house by the side of the track. Just beyond the track there is a little creek, over which there is a small bridge. About four years ago some repairs were made to that little bridge, and, of course, the bridge gang put up a sign board 'Run Slow' on either side during the day or so the bridge was weakened. When they finished their work, they went off and forgot the signs. The fact is, the boards had disappeared, and they didn't take the trouble to hunt them up.

"Some weeks afterward, no one knows just when, these signs reappeared in their former places. Nobody knew who put them there or what for. Nobody cared. If the section men noticed them at all they thought the bridge men had done it. It was none of the engineer's business why they were there—it was their duty to observe regulations which required them to slow down at all such signs. Observe regulations they did. For about four years not a train had passed over that little bridge without slowing almost to a standstill. The culvert, for that's all it is, has been as safe as any part of the roadbed, and yet, starting and stopping trains there has cost the company thousands of dollars. You know, it costs money to stop and start trains.

"You are wondering how it all comes about, of course. Well, that farmer stole those boards and put them up again at his leisure. For four years he has been going into the town or coming from it on our trains getting on or off right at his own door. It was a slick scheme, and how he must have laughed at us and enjoyed it all the while. But his game is up now, and the engineers are having their revenge by keeping up a continual screeching of their whistles at all hours of the day or night whenever they pass that farm house."

Too Literal.

[Harper's Weekly.]

Her lord enters in haltered and disordered plight, and being greeted with some asperity, explains: "Hole on, Minny; I's gwine to spidis. Yo' see, I wuz at de club, and dere wuz a split—"

She, "En jedgin' from yo' looks yo' master ben right in de split. Come in yer," etc.

American Home-Made Biscuits.

[Detroit Free Press.]

"I see, dear, that you are getting along well with your household duties," said a young husband to his wife, holding up a piece of biscuit and looking at it critically.

"Oh, goody," she exclaimed. "I am so glad you like the biscuit, George."

"Yes," he replied, you are getting along well; but," he continued, "allow me to offer a suggestion. Put some bar iron into your next batch of biscuits. I have a lingering suspicion, dear, that you used sheet iron this time, because you see I can break this biscuit easily over my knee."

She called him a horrid thing, and they never speak now unless there is company present.

Love in Quebec.

[Life.]

Whose 'ittle embezzler is oo? I 'se oose 'ittle embezzler.

Amphibious.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

They were discussing their natatorial capacity.

"Swim! Dive! Why, I can remain under water twenty minutes at a time."

"Only twenty minutes. Why, the other day I staid under water a whole hour. To be sure, it was because I fell into a dose and overslept myself, but still——" (The other lar faints.)

Getting a Tooth Pulled.

[New York Mercury.]

"What do you charge for pullin' teeth?" asked a countryman of a dentist.

"Fifty cents, without pain."

"An' how much when it hurts?"

"Twenty-five cents."

"All right, mister. My old woman'll be up here some time during the forenoon with a jumpin' tooth, and you just yank it out an' tell her the charge is all paid. There's a quarter."

When the Leaves Begin to Turn.

This is the time of the year when the young lady goes hunting for autumn leaves and finds more hay fever and rheumatism and influenza and wood-ticks than she knows what to do with.

Cloves Parted Them.

"I just went out to see some one," said he, in answer to her question, as he tried to lean his cane on the back of an orchestra chair. "Yes," said she, picking up a bill of the play, "you've been to see the evil one." "Why," said he, laughing, "do you see the cloven foot?" "No," was the reply, "but I smell the cloven breath." And for the rest of the evening not even the bellowing of the big trombone was able to smother the silence that settled over these two young hearts."

Grief and Genealogy.

[Paris Paper.]

"Yes, brethren," says the clergyman who is preaching the funeral sermon, "our deceased brother was cut down in a single night—torn from the arms of his loving wife, who is thus left a disconsolate widow at the early age of 24 years."

"Twenty-two, if you please," sobs the widow in the front pew, emerging from her handkerchief for an instant.

They Were Twins.

[Texas Siftings.]

"What two beautiful children! Are they twins?" said an old bachelor to an Austin lady with two children.

"Oh, yes, they are twins," replied the lady.

"Excuse my curiosity, madame; but are you the mother of both of them?"

Peck's Sun: It is stated that the fortune of Philip Armour, the Chicago pork king, is $25,000,000. "'Tis Greek, Sir," quoting Greece no more."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

In the year 1860, Mr. Joseph Despard Pemberton, in a book which he published, entitled "Facts and Figures Relating to Vancouver Island and British Columbia," gave his views on the Chinese question as it then affected this Province, as follows:

"The latest advices show that the Celestials are rapidly finding their way into British Columbia. If in California, where undisguised antipathy to the race has always existed, where special enactments have been framed to expel them, and where they have been for years the victims of organized or casual oppression, their numbers increased from 15,000 in 1855 to 50,000 in 1860; it may be conjectured that the influx of them to the gold fields of British Columbia, where they are certain, in common with all foreigners, to meet with protection as well as toleration, from California and China direct, will be remarkable. In California they are disliked, because they are regarded as a people who tell fearfully on the surface digging of the country, who extract large quantities of gold, and who, living as they do on a handful of rice and a few nondescripts, and ultimately carrying back with them to China the wealth which their matchless industry has enabled them to acquire, are in reality detrimental to the country. To them a month's wages in China is not more than the ordinary wages of a laborer for one day in British Columbia. An experiment was tried some years ago to test the practicability of importing Chinamen as laborers into Cuba, and found successful. There 600 of them were apprenticed at $4 per month. A British merchant at Amoy, describes the scene of despatching a vessel with 400 laborers, at $3 per month and rations to Honolulu as follows: "The only sorrowful persons were those whom from disease or deformity we were compelled to reject. These we placed a distinguishing mark upon, but this they removed, and presented themselves for selection three or four times. We were obliged to send them from alongside in hundreds; and the last day so great was the rush, that we thought they would have taken the vessel from us.'" The Chinese are adepts in the art of washing clothes, and monopolise that business wherever they go. With the Indians they appear to get on well, having many points in common; foremost among which may be reckoned immorality, and absence of cleanliness in their dwellings. I do not know whether or not they are such inveterate gamblers among themselves as Indians are."

BANK OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

In the House of Commons last week, the Finance Minister, in introducing a bill respecting the Bank of British Columbia, read the following memorandum in explanation of the objects of the bill:

"The Bank of British Columbia was incorporated by Royal charter dated 31st May, 1862, and supplemental charter dated 30th August, 1865, to carry on banking business in certain portions of British North America for twenty-one years from date of original charter, or until 31st May, 1883. By supplemental charter dated 11th May, 1883, this time was extended for a year, and by further supplemental charter dated 27th May, 1884, the charter was further extended for ten years from 31st May, 1884, subject to the general banking laws of the Colonies in which its business may be carried on. The object of this Bill is to declare what banking laws of the Dominion of Canada are applicable to the bank, and the provisions made applicable are those that relate to the general conduct of banking business, viz:—those providing for returns, the limit of circulation (which is not to exceed the amount of the unimpaired paid up capital), the denomination of notes allowed to be issued and the payment thereof in case of insolvency, dividends, reserves, powers of the bank in holding real estate, etc., and the penalties for the breach of all provisions made applicable to the bank, but the internal regulations are not touched. The provisions made applicable to the Bank of British North America are made applicable to this bank and for the purposes of this Act Victoria is made the head office of the bank. The charter of the bank provides for a double liability of the shareholders, in case of the winding up of the bank. The Bill has been submitted to the authorities of the bank in England and has been approved by them."

Bank of British Columbia—The Insurance Bill—The Budget Debate—Miscellaneous.

[From Our Special Correspondent.]

OTTAWA, March 20, 1885.

The session so far has been one of the driest and most uninteresting for many years, and several of the members already express themselves as considerably bored in consequence. But when the Canadian Pacific Railway question comes up, as beyond all doubt it now will, we may expect to have a lively time of it, as the leader of the opposition has already given evidence that he will oppose any further aid to the company in any form. The company have, it appears, submitted a proposition to the Government, looking to a rearrangement of the lien upon the property of the company taken last year as security for the loan of $30,000,000 with a view to enabling the shareholders to make a further investment of money in the enterprise. This proposition, it is understood, does not involve any new loan or any additional assistance on the part of the Government, and even if it did Parliament would only be doing its duty by aiding with all speed, the rapid construction of this great national highway, which is to bind together this great Dominion extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific. A return of the stockholders of the C. P. R. on Feb. 17th, 1885, presented last evening, shows that there are some 1,525 shareholders in the company distributed throughout Great Britain, France, Holland, Germany, the United States and Canada. In answer to Mr. Blake the other day, Sir John Macdonald said that the number of homesteads entered within the Canadian Pacific Railway belt up to 31st December last, was as follows: The first and second principal meridians, 7949; the second and third, 3917; the third and fourth, nil; the fourth and fifth, 23; total, 11,889. Hon. Mr. Pope, also, in reply to Mr. Blake, stated that the number of grades on the C. P. R. exceeding 90 feet to the mile was 9 descending the Rockies, two ascending the Selkirks and 24 descending the Selkirks. The aggregate length of such grades is 82½ miles, and there were 686 curves over six degrees. A deputation from Quebec waited upon the Government this morning asking for a bridge over the St. Lawrence, the construction of the short line from Montreal to the Maritime Provinces on Canadian soil, and that Quebec be made the summer terminus of the C. P. R. Sir John Macdonald, promised that the Government would take the matter into consideration.

REPRESENTATION IN THE CABINET.

Sir Leonard Tilley yesterday introduced a bill to increase the number of members of the Treasury From four to six, and in the discussion which ensued upon it, Mr. Blake intimated that the present rule of giving a fixed quota of representation to each province was objectionable. Sir John Macdonald, evidently holds the same opinion, as he intimated that the arrangement for provincial representation in the Cabinet was made at the time of Confederation as a matter of expediency, and was not designed or understood to be permanent.

THE INSURANCE BILL.

The principle involved in the Insurance Bill of recognizing the mutual assessment insurance associations, whether worked for profit or for benevolent, fraternal or religious purposes, was adopted in the Banking and Conference Committee this morning by a vote of 31 to 20. Foreign associations doing business in Canada will be asked to make a deposit of $50,000 with the Government and comply with sundry provisions to be imposed, the object of which is to prevent a foreign company coming here and after obtaining a large number of premiums from policy-holders, clearing out and snapping their fingers at them.

THE BUDGET DEBATE

Was continued on Tuesday by Mr. Burns, who was followed by Mr. Casey, but the latter had not finished his speech when the House adjourned at 6 o'clock, there being no evening session, as it was St. Patrick's Day. After Mr. Casey had concluded his speech yesterday, Mr. Stairs, the member for Halifax, defended the Government's policy. His speech was very dry and uninteresting, but was offset by the next speaker on the opposition side, Mr. Gillmor, who possesses a vein of quaint humor which is always enjoyed by the House. He was followed by Mr. Wood (Brockville), who made a capital little speech. The debate was again resumed to-day, among the speakers being Hon. Mr. Vail, and Messrs. Jackson, Tasse and others.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Minister of Customs, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, in answer to an enquiry of Sir Richard Cartwright the other day, said the total value of goods, the produce of Canada, exported between July 1, 1884, and March 1, 1885, was $56,847,281, and for the same period of the previous year, $56,861,122.

Hon. Senator Benson, of Niagara, died yesterday morning after a brief illness, at the age of 78 years.

Mr. Guillet, M. P. for West Northumberland, and Mr. Belleau, M. P. for Levis, have both been unseated.

Mr. McCarthy's Bill respecting carriers by land has been thrown out by the Railway Committee, by a vote of 36 nays to 25 yeas.

Major Bell, of the Bell farm, Manitoba, has just returned from England, where he was successful in making arrangements for the establishment of a school of instruction and agricultural college in connection with that property. He also reports emigration prospects in Great Britain as most encouraging and anticipates from his observations a large influx of well-to-do farmers into the Northwest this year.

A ministerial caucus was held yesterday to consider the question of the advance in the duty on flour, but owing to great divergence of opinion among the Government supporters, no definite line of action was agreed upon.

Sir John Macdonald has again introduced his bill respecting the electoral franchise, which is practically the same as that brought forward two years ago.

The Bill of Mr. Cameron (Huron) amending the law of evidence in criminal cases, so as to permit an accused person to give evidence in his own behalf, has been read a third time in the House, but its defeat in the Senate is talked of.

In a recent issue of THE TIMES you stated that Mr. Thos. White, had declared that Canada did not desire reciprocity with the United States. In his speech on the budget Mr. White stated that Canada desired reciprocity with the United States, but if the latter was not willing to give us reciprocity we could get along without it. Mr. White has always favored mutually reciprocal trade relations with our friends across the border.

Sir John Macdonald in answer to Mr. Blake a day or two ago, said that the Government of Manitoba, desired Imperial legislation on the question of the boundary between that Province and Ontario, and that the matter would be proceeded with without any delay.

In reply to Mr. Blake, Sir John also stated that no offer has been made by the Government of Canada to equip and send a military contingent to the Soudan at the expense of Canada or individual Canadians. Some offers have been made by individuals. Some, he believed, were sent directly to England; some were sent to the Governor-General as an Imperial officer; and some came to the Militia Department. He was not aware that any offer of military assistance at the cost of the British Government had been made by the Government or by individuals.

JOSH.

Hon. John Bourinot, one of the best known public men in Canada, and who has occupied a representative position since 1868 died at his residence in Bowmanville on the 22nd inst., after a few days illness. He was born at Rothesay, near Elgin, Scotland, in May, 1812, and had therefore at the time of his death nearly completed his seventy-third year. Educated in Canada, he entered mercantile life in 1825 as a clerk in the little port of Darlington, on the shores of Lake Ontario. In 1848 he was entrusted with the opening of a branch of the Bank of Montreal at Bowmanville, and at a subsequent period of another at Whitby. The experience thus gained brought him to the front on the occasion of the founding of the Ontario bank in 1857, of which financial institution he became the president. Mr. Simpson early took an active part in politics and represented Queen's division in the legislative council of Canada from 1856 until the union. He was a strongly pronounced liberal and was well known as a strong and able campaigner. On the formation of the confederation in 1867 he was called to the senate in which he occupied a prominent position, to the day of his death. He was, it may be added, the recipient of the "big push" letter written by the late Hon. Geo. Brown, which was made a campaign document by the Conservative party and is still frequently referred to in the press of that party.

A SPECIAL commissioner of the Colonist has made a tour of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Port Moody to the eastern end of the track. He has published a very readable account of what he saw and heard, in three chapters, and from a cursory inspection we are inclined to think that a great deal of valuable information has been collated by the painstaking "special." There is, however, a serious omission. No reference whatever has been made to the exorbitant freight charges on the railway! Is it possible that a special correspondent could make such an extended trip without hearing anything of the grievances of the business men and settlers in this respect? The excessive tariff of charges was deemed a subject worthy of the attention of the Local Legislature—it was thought of sufficient importance to memorialize the Dominion Government—it is the burning question from one end of the line to the other; and yet no reference is made to it in the exhaustive researches of the correspondent. Will the editor—the courteous and obliging chief editor—rise and explain?

THE rebellion in the Northwest, according to our dispatches this afternoon, is assuming proportions ominous of evil to the scattered settlers on the North Saskatchewan. Battleford is reported to have been pillaged and burned. Several large bands of Indians have joined the rebels, whose numbers are now swelled to two thousand. If Riel and his mis-guided followers really mean to fight, at least an equal force will have to be sent against them, as the enemy is not one to be despised. The regiments from the cities of the east may be utilized for garrison duty, and thus relieve the the Mounted Police, who are inured to prairie life and are at least a match for the rebels. Vigorous measures must be taken if an enormous sacrifice of life and property is to be avoided.

A dispatch this morning says that a Government commission has been appointed to enquire into the cause of the Northwest rebellion. Would it not be better to put the rebellion down, hang Riel, and enquire into the "causes" afterwards.

A STATEMENT made to Parliament shows that the total amount of money paid by the Dominion Government to the Ontario Government since confederation was $23,024,057.50, principally subsidy account.

OF VALUABLE VICTORIA CITY
Building Lots

Six Lots on the Fernwood estate, fronting on Fort street and the adjoining street, and Five Lots in James Bay, between Simcoe and Niagara streets.

Saturday Evening next, April 4
COMMENCING AT 7:30 SHARP.

FIVE LOTS IN JAMES BAY,

Sub-division of the west half of lot 26, between Simcoe and Niagara streets, comprise Lots 11, 17, 19, 23 and 24, those building sites are in a very favorable part of the James Bay portion of the City. There are many handsome residences in the immediate vicinity, and on the lots already sold upon the plan, there are built or in course of erection, very neat dwelling houses. The lots are entirely free from rock or stumps, are high and dry with splendid soil which offer peculiar advantages to buyers who wish to devote a portion of the land for fruit or flower gardens, while the easy distance, by good graded streets and sidewalks from the busy center of the city, makes this part a very desirable one for residences.

—ALSO—

Six Splendid Building Lots
ON THE FERNWOOD ESTATE,

fronting on [illegible] street, and adjoining streets, which command the residence and charming grounds of Col. C. F. Dupont, and are known on the map as Lots 5, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14. Upon the lots already sold on this plan there have been built, in course of erection, two of the handsomest houses in the city, and it is understood that the owners of the other lots contemplate building residences this summer.

This locality, it is needless to say, is for residential purposes [illegible] Victoria, [illegible] and [illegible] the most popular drive [illegible] Gorge, and the most residences are situated in this part. The contemplated route of the Victoria Electric Railway, will cause lots shown on map to become valuable as business lots, as the cars will stop for the convenience of the city, while to those whose a short and pleasant walk is a desideratum in their daily life, the lots to be sold present every advantage in that respect.

The terms of the sale, which will be particularly favorable, will be announced at the sale.

Plans of the properties will be on view at the rooms of the auctioneers.

Remember Saturday evening next, at 7:30, and also that every lot will be sold to the highest bidder.

NORTHWEST REBELLION.

More Murders Committed—Sacking Stores and Dwellings.

Special Dispatches to THE TIMES.

Another Call.

HALIFAX, April 1.—The Sixty-third Rifles have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to proceed to the Northwest Territory.

Pillaging and Burning.

WINNIPEG, April 1.—The Stoneys and Crees joined other bands yesterday. Geo. Applegate, farm instructor, and two settlers were burned. A large number of settlers' houses and all buildings in Battleford were pillaged and burned. It is expected Big Bear's band and the Fort Pitt Indians will also join in the rebellion. Big Bear, with 800 warriors, is now with Riel, who is now said to have 2000 armed men, but no field pieces. It is not known when General Middleton will order an advance of the troops.

WINNIPEG, March 31.—A Free Press dispatch from Battleford says: The Indian instructors, James Payne and Geo. E. Applegarth, of Eagle Hills, and two settlers, have been killed. These were killed by the Stoneys. Settlers coming in were robbed of horses, wagons and loads. Others are coming in from distant settlements in a destitute condition, and are collecting in the barracks where all are awaiting, and have plenty of provisions and can stand a siege for some time. The half-breeds are reported as going toward Clark's Crossing to cut the telegraph wires, which will probably be cut and communication from Battleford will be broken to-morrow. The Indians in Western Manitoba are showing signs of disquiet and will probably join the rebels.

Colonel Herchemier has left Regina for Battleford via Swift Current, with seventy mounted police and one cannon. It is supposed he can reach his destination in six days if not interrupted. Fears are entertained that the half-breeds from Duck Lake will go towards Winnipeg and cut off all communication and interrupt the advance of Hirscheimer. Indians on Fort Pett reserve, between Battleford and Edmonton, are likely to join those at Battleford. Wires are still broken between Battleford and Edmonton. It is not known whether they were cut by the half-breeds or not.

Baptiste Berge, who has just returned from Carlton to Qu'Appelle, was made prisoner by Riel and kept by him some time. He says Riel has fully one thousand men under his command, many of whom are Indians, and all well armed. When Irvine and Crozier retired on Prince Albert he says Riel followed, and he is quite certain another engagement has taken, or will soon take place. One Fisher, another of Riel's captives, lost the contents of his store. At Balch Crossing he says that Riel is being joined by Indians who are flocking to him. A family named Lovell from Duck Lake arrived at Qu'Appelle this morning, having broken through the rebel line and made their way across the prairie. They report that the rebels refuse to let the mail go out, and threaten to shoot the carriers. The rebels say they will not molest settlers if they remain quiet in their houses. They are pillaging the stores, and have captured George and John Kerr, Thompson the operator, and Michael, postmaster at Duck Lake. Big Bear and Beardy have one thousand Indians armed there. Lovell thinks that Riel is encouraging the rebels with the promise of help from Montana.

ARCHBISHOP SEGHERS.

Reception and Presentation of Address To-day.

By steamer Geo. E. Starr, His Grace Archbishop Seghers, accompanied by Father Durand arrived in the city. At the wharf he was met by the officers and prominent members of the Roman Catholic Church and a large number of others, and escorted to the View street Cathedral where the following address was read:

May it please your Grace,—The last occasion, on which we had the honor of welcoming your grace to Victoria, was when you made a temporary visit to your revered predecessor. Now, however, we have the unspeakable gratification of receiving you as our Chief Pastor. In this connection we cannot forget that you descended from a more elevated position in the Church of God, to labor for the conversion of the poor savage, as well as for the salvation of your christian flock. We have followed with more than ordinary interest your missionary career, since leaving the Eternal City. And it would be superfluous to say, your appeals and exhortations were everywhere received with that admiration and delight which they have always commanded. We cannot help mentioning the fact, that under the guidance of our highly esteemed and learned Administrator and the Right Rev. Father Jonkan and his zealous assistants, the work of the ministry has been prosecuted vigorously and successfully, in your very extensive diocese, during your absence. May we request, as a special favor, that on the first favorable opportunity, your Grace will convey our warmest regards to your venerated predecessor, Bishop Brondel. We pray for your Grace's good health, and a long and prosperous career amongst us; though on this latter point it might not be safe to rely too much. For we know not what designs the Holy Father may entertain of availing himself of your Grace's services in a more exalted sphere. Signed on behalf of the Committee.

JAMES MURRAY,
E. A. MCQUADE.

At the conclusion of the address, His Grace briefly returned thanks for the kind reception extended him, expressed his pleasure at returning to Victoria, and hoped that their relations as pastor and flock would be pleasant and productive of much spiritual good. Short thanksgiving services were then conducted in the Cathedral.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

(THE TIMES wishes it to be distinctly understood that it is in no way responsible for, and does not necessarily agree with its correspondents.)

Missed His Vocation.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—There is a point beyond which human forbearance ceases to be a virtue; and Indians' wrongs, like Ireland's wrongs, are in the estimation of the truthful, benevolent and complaisant Robert Tomlinson illustrations of this. It is gratifying to know that this Rev. gentleman, faithful servant of his Master, is so near us to set us all, and the Government in particular, right as to the management of Indians and their affairs generally. But while giving him every credit for the many virtues and great knowledge which he so frequently professes to posses, I beg leave to differ from him in one or two points in the affair of Skeena and Naas. Never, until he and Duncan, in a rebellious spirit, suggested to and stirred up among the Indians the question of land claims, did these people think of such, nor would they now, particularly since the Government has asserted its authority, but that he and Duncan are engineering the business. This same gentleman professes to have a regard for the miner and prospector (the Kincolith courtesies and hospitalities to these last are proverbial), but he need give himself no anxiety about them. I was one of the same men who found our way from the mouth of Fraser to that of Quesnelle in 1858 and 1859, and we arrived at the Forks without the exercise of any benign missionary influence; in fact we carried an influence of our own which was more or less impressive. Should the prospects on Skeena warrant, I believe we are capable of doing this over again. I am certain we are equal to its attempt. To my mind, Robert Tomlinson has mistaken his vocation. Like all Irish agitators, he was born with the "Land Question" on the brain, and he has it in so malignant a form that it seriously neutralizes the effect of his services in the cause of his professed master. He should now be in Ireland, an official of the Land League. To Parnell he would be invaluable; and more, his work there would be more congenial to his nature than his calling here; otherwise why is he now not in the interior where Bishop Bumpus sent him in 1878? But his purpose is clearly though speciously worded, in the last lines of his letter, and it is this: That having lost the authority and prestige he once possessed among the Indians, he may be reinstated by being regarded and recognized by the Government as a medium between them and the Indian, giving him an importance he would not otherwise have. It is to be hoped, in the interests of peace and progress, that the Government will have nothing to do with either him or his astute friend, William Duncan.

MINER.

Victoria, April 1, 1885.

The Metlakatlans.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR:—The Colonist of yesterday has drummed up another unknown(if real) to speak in behalf of William Duncan, and draw a comparison between him and Dr. Tolmie. Unlike the Dr., whose acts have earned for him the respect of the people of the whole of this coast, the man Duncan has only a few obscure or interested individuals, through a subsidized, mendacious journal, to say one word in his favor. Mr. Winslow says Duncan gave the Indians an "equivalent" for their peltries; if this be so whence the profits? This gentleman, too, implies that had Duncan so chosen he could have prevented the survey of the two acres. If this be true the Government has much to thank Duncan for, particularly as he is where he is, illegally. But the truth is Duncan could not have prevented it. The Government know this, and that the Indians throughout the Province have never failed to recognize authority, and only require to be made aware in whom it is vested. The Metlakatlahs are no exception, and every Indian there now knows that the Government has at last taken upon itself the conduct of its own affairs, to the extinction of missionary rule and abolition of calaboose and black hole, and inwardly rejoice at the change. As Mr. Duncan is on the reserve on sufferance, his personal silence is becoming, and in charity he should be saved from his "friends."

Will Form a Cabinet.

LONDON, April 1.—A dispatch from Paris, received this morning, reports that M. De Freycinet has now accepted President Grevy's offer and will form a new cabinet immediately.

Refusing Information.

LONDON, March 31.—Hartington, when refusing in the Commons to-day to give any information regarding the relations with Russia, said the Government deemed this attitude necessary because both matters of fact and policy which formed the subject of discussion between England and Russia were object concerning which the strongest sensitive feeling existed in England, Russia and India in regard to the continued military preparations. The Marquis stated that these were not being made as a menace to Russia, nor to influence the pending negotiations.

LONDON, March 31.—The sculling match between Rubear and Goodwin today from Putney to Mortlakt was won by Goodwin; stakes £200.

Special dispatches to THE TIMES.

The March on Tamai.

SUAKIM, April 1.—A detachment of cavalry was sent out this morning to reconnoitre in the neighborhood of Tamai. They found Tamai occupied by a large force of the enemy. A general advance of the British forces will begin to-morrow morning at daybreak. The troops will stop at the Zareba to-morrow night and will march on Tamai on Friday morning.

Women to the Rescue.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 1.—The Government is in arrears to soldiers for several months' pay and to-day the wives of soldiers attempted to secure attention to their husbands demands by appearing in force at the office of the Minister of Finance. Bands of women collected to the number of 2000 or more at a point near the building occupied by the cabinet officials and at an appointed hour they marched in a body to the office of the Minister of Finance and pushing past the guards they entered the office and confronting the minister demanded the pay due their husbands. Policemen were called in and tried to expel them but the women turned on the officers and forced them to retire. The Finance Minister made a plausible excuse for the delay in paying the men, but the women decared his answer was unsatisfactory and made a rush for him. He, however, escaped by jumping out of the back window.

Osman Demoralized.

SUAKIM, March 31.—The latest accounts all indicate that Osman Digma is completely demoralized, and has retired to Erkolew. A flag of truce is hoisted over Hasheen to cover his retreat. Many tribes are deserting him. Work on the Berber railway is resumed.

Another Version.

VIENNA, March 31.—A dispatch from Constantinople says it is asserted that Zobehr Pasha sent to Khartoum a Nubian servant, who betrayed and killed Gen. Gordon. Zobehr's motive was revenge for the hanging of his son.

The Tonquin War.

PARIS, March 31.—The Government has received a dispatch from DeLisle, commander of the French forces in Tonquin. He entreats the war office to send him reinforcements immediately. Eight thousand men are ordered to immediately reinforce the army there. Much alarm is felt over the fact that no news has been received for upwards of 36 hours from the French army in Tonquin.

Hindering Railway Work.

SUAKIM, April 1.—The enemy suddenly appeared to-day in large force in the direction of Handoub. The men at work on the railroad were rapidly withdrawn.

GENERAL GRANT DYING.

Slowly but Surely Approaching the End—A Few Hours More to Live.

Special Dispatches to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, April 1.—At 9 o'clock ex-Senator Chaffee left General Grant. He says the General is growing weaker; his throat is filling up, but the main trouble is with the heart. The doctors say he may die at any time.

Bulletin—9.45 a. m.—Rev. Dr. Newman left Gen. Grant's house. He was met by several reporters, and said the General solemnly realizes the fact of his prolonged sufferings, but the strength of his intellect and the calmness and serenity of his mind are wonderful. A visitor who left the house at 10 o'clock said that the General had rallied and was conscious and composed.

Bulletin—10 a. m.—Authentic information at this hour is to the effect that Gen. Grant is failing fast, and that it is only a question of a few hours until the end is reached. He is gradually sinking, but not suffering pain.

Bulletin—10.45 a. m.—Senator Chaffee states that the sudden weakness of Gen. Grant this morning was the result of an affection of the heart. It is understood now that the General has entirely lost the power of speech.

NEW YORK, April 1.—General Grant is still alive, but sinking fast.

Bulletin—11.30 a. m.—A consultation of Gen. Grant's physicians will be held at 2 p. m., before which no bulletin will be issued. It is now stated Gen. Grant is sitting up and is a trifle more comfortable.

2.45 p. m.—In response to inquiry, Col. Fred. Grant has just stated: "Father is very feeble and I think failing. I hardly think he will get through the night."

2.45 p. m.—Drs. Barker and Sands left the General's house after the consultation. Dr. Barker said the General would live through the night if no serious complications would arise.

NEW YORK, April 1.—At 2.45 p. m., Gen. Grant was visited by Drs. Barker, Sands, Shrady and Douglas. His condition is an improvement upon that of last night. He has no pain in swallowing and takes liquid food as usual and is free from accumulation in secretion in nares. Has had no attack of choking, and no return of weakness. His pulse is still quite feeble, and his vitality is considerably impaired. He has not been unconscious at any time.

Aspinwall in Ashes.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The following dispatch from Commander Kane, of Galena, has just been received by the Secretary of the Navy: Aspinwall is in ashes, burnt by the insurgents to escape capture by the Government troops. Have all my force on shore protecting property. My ship is crowded with refugees. Thousands are destitute and without shelter.

INDIAN EVANGELIZATION.

Mr. Joseph Cook's Opinion of the Work in Alaska.

"Let us not depend on politicians to reform the Indians. We cannot safely depend even on the Government schools to solve the Indian problem. The longest root of hope for the Indian is to be found in the self-sacrifice of the Christian Church. Look at Alaska! For twenty years a frozen foundling on our western borders, we did less for her than Russia accomplished. The Presbyterian Church as represented by that heroic missionary, Dr. Sheldon Jackson, has reached out its powerful arms to the forbidding regions of the North. After most mischievous and inexcusable delays on the part of Congress, there has been secured, chiefly through Dr. Jackson's influence, a loose territorial organization for Alaska. Dr. Jackson assists in administering it. He has obtained a large appropriation for schools. At the present moment the Indians of Alaska, occupying a territory as large as that of the American Union east of the Mississippi and north of the Gulf States, are almost exclusively in the hands of the Presbyterian Church. Other denominations have done something in Alaska, but the greatest efforts have been made by the denomination I have named, and which I hope will be allowed to carry out its own enterprises without much rivalry. It is worthy to occupy the field which it has so bravely opened. What different denominations have been doing, the Episcopalian, Baptist, Methodist, Congregationalist, Presbyterian, all the way from the Canadian to the Mexican line, only God knows. The matter never can be written out. The churches in the East do not know, the churches in the West do not know, the self-sacrifices, the privations, the toils, the prayers, the tears, of the frontier missionaries. They are precious in the sight of God; and it is because I believe that Almighty Providence will second efforts as holy as these that I do not abate one jot of heart or hope concerning the solution of the Indian problem. It is the Church, by evangelizing the Indian, that will bring him into a condition to desire education. It is through religion and education that he will gradually acquire capacity for self-support, self-protection and self-government. The first motto of all Indian reformers should be Indian evangelization."

A Seven-Dollar Stroke.

A dude, accompanied by his faithful dawg, and sucking his dandy cane, was promenading on Government street today. The quadruped offended his companion and the latter aimed a vicious blow with his cane at the offender. The cane left his hand and proceeded through a $7 pane of glass in the front of Mr. Denny's store. The final act was the dude going into the store to pay the damage, while the blawsted cur took a lonely saunter down the street.

WOMAN AND HOME.

Interviews with Mothers Concerning Family Government.

Hints on Carpet Cleaning—Girls' Gossip—At the Toilet Table—Health Hints—Items of All Sorts.

[St. Paul Pioneer Press Interview.]

It was the desire of finding out how our methods of family government differed from those employed in the older sections of the country, where the raising of children has been an object of consideration for generations past, that induced a reporter to make a tour of inspection among a few families of the city.

"I don't know, I'm sure," said the mother of a family on St. Peter street, "whether I'm bringing up my children in the way they should go; it seems to me sometimes—Jim, stop that noise, I can't hear myself speak—that they are bringing me up in the way I shouldn't go. Nannie, that cat will scratch you. Saturday is a noisy day—there, I knew it would—now, go right up stairs and cry, so I won't hear you—and one needs a good deal of patience and forbearance to get through at all. Jim, stop pounding, this moment."

"I don't know how other folks manage their children," continued the lady, "I don't pretend—Tom, where did you get that big slice of bread and jelly? That boy has the stomach of a baggage-car. I don't pretend to manage mine. It's an awful responsibility—Katy, didn't I tell you never to touch the ink! You naughty (shake) naughty (slap) naughty (punch) girl! (Spank, spank, spank.) Now, don't you cry. I'm the one that ought to cry. I tell you, four mischievous children are what take the poetry out of married life. Tom, you are one mass of jelly from top to toe. Get in the bath-tub this moment, and stay there till I come. (Exit Tom, surreptitiously taking a pie along with him.) Girls don't half know—Jim, didn't you hear me tell you to stop! ["No!" says Jim]—the trouble that's in store for them.—If they did—Mercy, I smell smoke! Now who has set the curtain afire!" (Curtain—the unburned portion of it falls. Exit reporter.)

"As a general rule," said a graceful lady in a Pleasant avenue home, "I pursue the let-alone policy with my children. I don't believe in nagging them; I don't like to be nagged myself. If my children are happy, they are generally good, and if they are not happy I consider that it is my fault. They have one large room in the house in which they have perfect freedom. You may hear them shouting there now. Suppose we go and see them!"

In the nursery was found an imaginary large sheet of water, upon which a dry goods box, insecurely placed upon two chairs, enacted the part of a noble vessel. A small boy had just fallen overboard, whereat another small boy, dramatically exclaiming, "Oh! my son, my son!" hastily turned a somersault into the surging waves, and would certainly have rescued him had not an inadvertent kick overturned the stately ship, and all on board, including a yellow-haired little mother, with numberless china babies, perished forever.

"Hush," whispered a young mother on Fourteenth street, "the baby is asleep."

The reporter stepped first on his toes, but they squeaked; then on his heels, but they made a noise; then tried to walk on air, but falling in that, took the proffered seat and tried to act like a dead man.

"The little thing is so nervous and wakeful," continued his hostess. "It is such a relief to have it out of my arms. Older women are all the time telling me I oughtn't to hold it and pet it so much, but what can one do with a sickly child? I can't let it cry. No, I don't think the climate is to blame for its nervousness. The fact is my husband, like so many men in this city, is overworked. He has been so worried and rushed with his business affairs that his system has all but broken down; and our child resembles him. It is nothing new. I have a particularly strong and healthy neighbor, whose four babies died one after the other, with disease inherited from their father. I never see a work upon the duties and obligations of mothers without wanting to write a book entitled 'What Fathers Ought to Know.'"

"No, sir, I have no children," said the mistress of a house on Summit avenue, "but of course I have ideas as to the best means of bringing them up. Every woman has. I think the better class of St. Paul mothers are very careful of the health of their little ones. You see children out in all sorts of weather, thoroughly protected against the cold, and looking in winter season like vigorous little Greenlanders. I am acquainted with numerous babies who would no more miss their daily out-door exercise, even in stormy and inclement weather, than they would miss being put to bed at night. It is only the grown-up people here who complain of the climate. I notice, too, that the offspring of the very rich seem to have a better time of it here than they do in some places. My wealthy neighbor across the way keeps her children in gingham pinafores, and tucks them under the blankets at 8 o'clock. They eat good, nourishing food at regular intervals, and are the happiest set of youngsters you ever saw.

"You don't see how I manage with a house-ful of boys?" repeated a pleasant-looking woman on Minnesota street. "Well, I will tell you. I simply keep them employed, generally in the way they like best. Each of them has, if not a talent, at least a knack for some kind of handiwork. Dick has a set of carpenter's tools, and a room in which to use them. Bert turns his attention to his amateur printing outfit, and Fred devotes his time, out of school, to any odd job by which he can make a little money. Even this little rascal, indicating a chubby youngster at her feet, likes to paste engravings in a blank book, and afterward decorate them with the aid of a box of paints. My boys have no time to be tiresome or mischievous. When a person, old or young, is busy and interested, that person is safe. When they are tired of work, I invent a new game for them. Reading stories is no fun for them, but to dress up and act the stories out is considered the best sort of a good time. Hard to control? Oh, no. I never 'order them round.' Boys detest that, and I don't wonder at it. I try not to be unreasonable in my demands, and generally explain why they are made. I appeal to their judgment rather than to their affection, and that deprives them instantly of the idea that they are tied to mother's apron strings. I believe in being my boys' best friend, and you know your best friend is one who compels you to do your best."

Aprons for the Children.

("Pauline" in The Housekeeper.)

The backs of cambric overskirts and polonaises make serviceable aprons for the children, providing you let the machine do all the sewing and do not spend much time in trimming. Have a good fitting pattern, however, for the plainest garment. Much depends upon the shape and fit of the apron. One pattern, providing it is correct, will do duty in many ways. I cut aprons, dresses, cloaks and undergarments from a nice cloak pattern I have, varying them all to suit my taste.

Said a lady to me one day, referring to a neighbor's child who was at play with mine, "How dirty that little girl always looks." For reply I turned one of my own little girls toward her and asked if there was not one quite as dirty. "Well somehow" she answered, "your children never look dirty, even when they are." I divined the reason for the difference, for while the dress of my neighbor's child hung in folds and puckers, my little girl's plain gingham apron soiled and torn from her play, fitted smoothly and shapely about her form.

Words of Warning and Comfort.

"If you are suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness, take cheer; if you are simply ailing, or if you feel
'weak and dispirited,
'without clearly knowing why, Hop Bitters will surely cure you.

If you are a minister, and have overtaxed yourself with your pastoral duties, or a mother, worn out with care and work, or a man of business or labor, weakened by the strain of your everyday duties, or a man of letters toiling over your midnight work, Hop Bitters will most surely strengthen you.

If you are suffering from over-eating or drinking, any indiscretion or dissipation, or are running and growing too fast, as is often the case,

"Or if you are in the workshop, on the farm, at the desk, anywhere and feel
'that your system needs cleansing, toning, or stimulating, without intoxicating, if you are old,
'blood thin and impure pulse
'feeble, nerves unsteady, faculties
'waning, Hop Bitters is what you need to 'give you new life, health and vigor."

If you costive, or dyspeptic or suffering from any other of the numerous diseases of the stomach or bowels, it is your own fault if you remain ill. If you are wasting away with any form of kidney disease, stop tempting death this moment, and turn for a cure to Hop Bitters.

If you are sick with that terrible sickness, Nervousness, you will find a "Balm in Gilead" in Hop Bitters.

If you are a frequenter, or resident of,
a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all countries
Malaria, Epidemic, Billious and Intermittent Fevers by the use of Hop Bitters

If you have rough, pimply, or sallow skin, bad breath, Hop Bitters will give you fair skin, rich blood, the sweetest breath and health. $500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help.

A Lady's Wish.

"Oh, how I do wish my skin was as clear and soft as yours," said a lady to her friend. "You can easily make it so," answered the friend. "How?" inquired the first lady. "By using Hop Bitters that makes pure, rich blood and blooming health. It did it for me as you observe."
